

Implementation Guideline for the Professional Conduct and Dress Code Bylaw for Students and Residents of Universities and Faculties of Medical Sciences of the Country

Mordad 1402 (August 2023)

“The more the university environment is an environment of piety and religious health, the safer it will be for the student, for studying, for thinking correctly, and for any sound political and cultural endeavor.” —
The Supreme Leader (may his exalted shadow endure)

Preamble

A review of history, the culture and civilization of mankind indicate that the outward adornment and the conduct of human beings, at every level and in every nation, reflect the growth, maturity and cultural advancement of each society. The culture and civilization of Islam and Iran have always been, and remain, the focus of attention of other peoples and nations as one of the most outstanding and advanced civilizational symbols of mankind.

Moreover, with the establishment of universities and scientific centers, the spiritual and sacred realm of knowledge has led scholars, residents, students and those interacting with this field always to conduct themselves in the social environment of the university above the prevailing standards of social conduct, and to safeguard the sacred realm of the university.

Since, today, owing to the emergence of information and communication networks, the distance between the beliefs, convictions and cultures, and the cultural and behavioral proprieties, of different persons has become very small, and the authentic cultural identity of scientific communities has been exposed to disorder and chaos, it is necessary for all members of the university community to be sensitive to this issue and to safeguard the identity of scientific communities.

In this regard, the conduct, manner of dress and appearance of dear students and residents in clinical centers, in step with physicians, nurses and paramedical personnel, who in accordance with their specific duties wear a specific uniform of a specific color, can, in addition to creating a reassuring environment for patients, lead to increased productivity and adherence to these proprieties in all areas.

To this end, the Ministry of Health and Medical Education, with a view to making the conduct and dress of students and residents of universities and faculties of medical sciences law-governed and standardized, relying on collective knowledge and on the existing laws and regulations in Iran and worldwide, and pursuant to the higher-level laws, the standards of the rights of the service recipient and his/her companion, and the resolution of Session 358 of the Supreme Council of the Cultural Revolution dated 74/6/13 regarding the instances of (permitted and non-permitted) professional dress of students and residents, which was formulated in elaboration of Clause 3/d of Article 6 of the Student Disciplinary Bylaw, approved the Professional Conduct and Dress Code Bylaw for Students and Residents of Universities and Faculties of Medical Sciences of the Country. For the purpose of implementing this Bylaw, and pursuant to Clause 1 of Article 4 of the “Professional Conduct and Dress Code Bylaw for Students and Residents of Universities and Faculties of Medical Sciences of the Country”, this Guideline has been prepared so that, while making the performance of students and residents transparent, it will serve as a clear policy for implementers and supervisors.

In view of the passage of more than 10 years since the current Guideline and the extensive changes in the manner of dress of students and residents, the necessity of reviewing and amending the current Guideline was felt, and for this purpose the present Guideline has been reviewed.

Article 1 – General Definitions

All terms of this Bylaw have been prepared on the basis of the definitions approved in the educational bylaws and include the following:

1. Student: A person who has been admitted through the regulations of and institutions of higher education, or through the entrance examination of universities, has registered, and is in the process of completing the academic years.
2. Clinical student and resident: Refers to a student and a resident who is undergoing training in an educational, health and treatment center.
3. Educational and research environment: A place in which a person, in the capacity of a student, is engaged in educational and research activities.

Note 1: Foreign students and residents (non-Iranian nationals) are also covered by this Bylaw.

Note 2: Camp sites, and all student and resident gatherings, are covered by the regulations of educational and research environments.

Note 3: For ease of reading the text, in place of the phrase “Implementation Guideline of the Professional Conduct and Dress Code Bylaw for Students and Residents of Universities and Faculties of Medical Sciences of the Country”, only the word “Guideline” is used.

Article 2 – Professional Conduct

Since the purpose of educating students and residents in universities of medical sciences is, in essence, the training of skilled personnel to carry out the sacred medical profession, and since they may enter the private sphere of individuals, they are, therefore, as a religious and ethical duty, obliged to display fully professional conduct commensurate with the dignity of scientific and treatment environments, and at all times, as a confidential counselor, to respect the privacy, dignity and standing of others.

Article 3 – Specific Duties of the Ministry of Health, Treatment and Medical Education, and of Universities/Faculties of Medical Sciences

1. For the purpose of implementing the Guideline on professional conduct and dress, students and residents of universities and faculties of medical sciences of the country are obliged to give consideration to the following duties and to endeavor to implement them optimally:
2. Holding lectures, question-and-answer sessions and scientific conferences on hijab at the university.
3. Planning for the optimal promotion of a culture of professional conduct and dress, especially during leisure time, with priority given to implementing programs separately for girls and boys.
4. Establishing counseling centers, with experienced counselors and religious and cultural experts, for greater information and interaction with students and residents of universities and faculties.
5. Holding think-tank sessions, debates and free-thinking forums (kursi-ye azad-andishi) on the philosophy of chastity and hijab.
6. Holding exhibitions for the display and availability of clothing consistent with the Iranian-Islamic lifestyle and this Guideline, at an appropriate price and with maximum discount.

7. Incorporating the concepts of chastity and hijab into the educational programs (cultural hours) of students and residents.
8. Promoting the culture of, teaching, and fully implementing the Law on the Conformity of the Technical Affairs of Medical Institutions with the Standards of the Holy Sharia of Islam, and communicating the executive instructions in educational and health-treatment environments.
9. Greater supervision of affiliated hospitals and educational-treatment centers with a view to promoting the culture of hijab and the observance of patients' rights by students and residents.
10. Emphasizing the observance of hijab and Islamic ethics as one of the fundamental prerequisites for the presence of students and residents in the various educational and university environments.
11. Giving importance to the issue of hijab as one of the distinguishing criteria in the selection and nomination of exemplary students, residents and faculty members of universities and faculties of medical sciences, on the basis of the Professional Conduct and Dress Code Bylaw.
12. Presenting cultural packages to newly admitted students and residents in order to raise their awareness in the field of hijab and chastity.
13. Providing a suitable and uniform model to students and residents for entering educational, research and health-treatment environments in accordance with the Implementation Guideline.
14. Raising the level of awareness and belief of members of the university community (faculty members, students, residents and staff) by explaining the views of Islam on chastity and dress, social harms and the consolidation of values, the foundations for strengthening family relations, and life skills and the Islamic-Iranian lifestyle, by holding educational workshops.
15. Introducing suitable role models, drawing on the practical conduct of the Infallibles (peace be upon them) and on scientific, literary and cultural figures in keeping with the requirements of time and place, on various occasions, and through lectures by specialist professors and by foreign women and newly converted Muslim women who observe hijab, on the subject of chastity and dress.
16. Extensive promotion and dissemination of information on the various provisions of this Instruction to professors, instructors and faculty members, students, residents and staff, in the form of banners, text messages and university notice boards.
17. Creating an intellectual and conceptual foundation for members of the university community in the field of chastity and Islamic dress by holding free-thinking forums, debates, think-tank sessions and specialist meetings.
18. Identifying and encouraging exemplary faculty members, students and residents in the field of chastity and dress at the university, and holding orientation workshops for them with a view to attracting their participation and cooperation.
19. Creating the ground for presenting cultural products such as books, compact discs and items related to the subject of chastity and dress, and supporting the holding of related cultural and artistic competitions, whether virtual or in person.
20. Engaging students and residents in the field of scientific research on hijab and chastity at universities, and providing financial support for outstanding student and resident theses, research projects and books related to the subject of expanding the culture of chastity and dress.
21. Giving precedence to positive, knowledge-based and encouraging measures over deterrent measures, in accordance with the methods of enjoining the good and forbidding the evil in the matter of chastity and dress (such as: holding various educational workshops on the subject of chastity and dress, scientific and cultural competitions, related cultural camps, lectures and question-and-answer sessions, free-thinking forums, etc.).
22. Identifying and employing informed, capable and qualified personnel and staff who act upon the religious principles of chastity and dress, to carry out cultural, guidance, executive and promotional activities in this regard.
23. Attracting the participation of all members of the university community, the public, institutions and the university board of trustees in the implementation of this Instruction.
24. At the time of a student's/resident's admission to the university, the Deputy for Education must bring this Guideline to his/her attention and obtain a written undertaking, signed by the student/resident, to the effect that he/she has been fully informed of its provisions and is obliged to act in accordance with them. (This undertaking will be obtained from the student/resident at the time of registration or at the beginning of each level of study, and will be kept in his/her educational file.)

25. All university centers are obliged to install signs or posters measuring 50 × 70, containing the regulations and rules on dress and standards of conduct at the university, in a uniform form and color, at the entrances of faculties and of all educational-treatment centers, in such a manner that they can be seen and read by everyone from a distance of two meters.

Note: The Deputies for Education and for Student and Cultural Affairs of the Ministry are responsible for supervising the proper implementation of this Bylaw and its Implementation Guideline.

Article 4 – Restrictions, Duties and Professional Etiquette of Students and Residents

1. The identification card issued by the Deputy for Education, including the photograph, first name and surname, university emblem, field of study and level of study of the student/resident, must be affixed in a uniform manner on the left side of the chest of the uniform, in such a way that it is visible.
2. The classes of female and male students and residents must be held in two separate rows.
3. In order to observe the standards of the rights of service recipients and their companions, students and residents must study and act in accordance with the approved texts on medical ethics.
4. Since the observance of the personal and private sphere and the psychological tranquility of the patient is mandatory for students and residents in all circumstances, they must therefore endeavor to obtain the patient's consent before taking a history, examining, testing, etc.
5. If students and residents see an instruction that is to the detriment of the patient or that violates clinical and safety regulations, they must raise it with the senior clinical supervisor.
6. Students and residents must respect the patients' rights in relation to the choice of physician and treatment method in non-emergency cases.
7. Students and residents must respect the manners, customs, language, religion and culture of patients.
8. Any photography, filming and sound recording of the patient using a mobile phone or otherwise, without the patient's written permission, is prohibited.
9. Students and residents must not misuse the situation of patients or their families.
10. Students and residents must maintain patients' secrets.
11. Smoking and the use of other tobacco products during the presence of persons in university environments (hospitals, dormitories, reading halls, sports facilities, coffee shops, restaurants, etc.) is prohibited.
12. Any eating and drinking at the patient's bedside is prohibited.
13. The use of mobile phones and other audio and visual devices at the patient's bedside is prohibited.
14. Any inappropriate discussion and joking, and laughing loudly, in all clinical environments, especially in the presence of patients or in public environments, is prohibited.

15. Raising the volume of a mobile phone or any other medium as a means of broadcasting sound in clinical environments is prohibited.
16. Observing the limits prescribed by Sharia in looking and speaking with non-mahram persons, and observing ethical, social and student proprieties, is absolutely essential in clinical environments. Students and residents must refrain from acts and conduct contrary to Islamic and student proprieties and to professional ethics.
17. Chewing gum is not permitted for students and residents while wearing hospital attire or while engaged in conversation and diagnostic and therapeutic interventions concerning patients.
18. The use of any drug or substance that causes the movements and speech of the student and resident to appear abnormal is prohibited.
19. Observing courtesy and respect, humility, and Islamic ethics and etiquette appropriate to the dignity of a member of the university community toward professors and faculty members is mandatory.
20. Students and residents shall refrain from any verbal or behavioral insult and ridicule, quarrel and aggression.
21. Students and residents are obliged to use correctly, protect and maintain the public facilities, equipment and instruments placed at their disposal. Students and residents shall not be permitted to use equipment without coordination with the responsible person. Warning signs and instructions for the use of the instruments shall be heeded.
22. The use of facilities and equipment for personal purposes, or for the benefit of unauthorized parties and groups, is prohibited.
23. Causing damage to property in university spaces and health-treatment environments, or to other public treasury (bayt al-mal) property, is not permitted.
24. The use of any non-professional covering over the approved uniform inside hospital wards is prohibited.

Note: The use of a light-colored chador is without objection, provided that it is specifically intended for use in the treatment setting.
25. If a student or resident has a contagious disease, he/she must inform his/her senior clinical education supervisor and observe the necessary points regarding the principles of hygiene.
26. When examining a patient of the opposite sex, a student or resident of the same sex as the patient, or the patient's companion, must be present beside the treating student or resident.

Article 5 – Instances of Mandatory and Prohibited Dress and Grooming (Common to Men and Women)

1. The use of clothing or adornments contrary to the holy Sharia of Islam, Islamic and national culture, and the dignity and custom of the university, and instances that promote Western culture and style, or that contain Latin letters and words, symbols of newly emerged mysticisms, deviant sects and Satanism, is prohibited.
2. The styles of manteaux, headscarves (maghnaeh), clothing, shoes and bags must be simple and must avoid extravagant styles.
3. Any short and tight garment, open-front manteau, sheer silk fabric, tulle or lace, or open-collared garment that reveals the body is prohibited.

4. Unconventional wristbands (hand and foot) bearing offensive designs, signs of deviant groups or anti-moral signs, or that are colored, sequined, illuminated, padlocked, chained, etc., are prohibited.
5. The use of headbands, shawls, neckerchiefs, belts, rings and bags that bear offensive designs and inscriptions with Latin letters, or signs of deviant groups, is prohibited.
6. The use of clothing and any hung items on which are displayed images of women, romantic phrases, vulgar and obscene words, comic, absurd and meaningless images, ethnic and racial slogans, logos and symbols of hostility to religion, particular deviant groups (including rap and heavy), and commercial marks and advertisements that are regarded as offensive or insulting or that tarnish the educational environment, is prohibited.
7. Any tattoo on the face (lips, eyebrows and eyes) and in visible areas (hands, face, etc.), and piercing of body parts such as a ring in the nose, is prohibited.
8. The wearing of attire of gatherings that is unsuitable for the university environment, such as attire appropriate to festive gatherings, recreational and sports environments and rest areas, is prohibited.
9. Wearing a hat in classes and at patients' bedsides, and also in clinics (educational environments), is prohibited.
10. In order to reduce injury to the feet and to prevent the transmission of infection, the use of slippers and sandals in educational or clinical environments is prohibited, except in the operating room and in special care and cardiac wards.
11. The use of sunglasses in classes and at patients' bedsides, and also in clinics (educational environments), is prohibited, unless it is on a physician's recommendation.
12. The use of any cosmetics, eau de cologne and perfumes with a strong, unconventional odor in educational environments is prohibited.
13. The use of any profile without covering, or with inappropriate dress, in virtual spaces is prohibited.

Article 6 – Instances of Mandatory and Prohibited Dress and Grooming for Women

1. Wearing a hat without a maghnaeh is prohibited.
2. The use of artificial eyelashes is prohibited.
3. When a long maghnaeh (to below the shoulder) of suitable thickness is used, the entire head and hair must be covered, such that the neck area and the collar area of the garment are also covered. The use of thin and short scarves, or of a shawl alone, or hair emerging from the front of the head and from behind the maghnaeh, is prohibited.
4. Artificial nail extensions and makeup on the face and nails that attract the attention of others and have no therapeutic benefit or effect are prohibited.
5. Wearing a blouse and trousers alone, without a front-closed manteau, is prohibited. Likewise, the exposure of any part of the body from beneath the manteau is not permitted.
6. The coat or gown of women and men must be completely closed in clinical environments throughout the entire period of presence.
7. The specifications of the student/resident coat are as follows: a long white coat (to knee level), loose, with long sleeves, non-clinging and thick, such that the underlying clothing is not visible.
8. Wearing a skirt in place of trousers is prohibited for women, except in special cases such as a particular illness or pregnancy.
9. The presence of female students and residents in educational environments in tight or very loose manteaux (above the knee), or very short, slit, short-sleeved, clinging, or body-revealing manteaux, or in loud and offensive colors, or in sweatshirts, chemises, blouses, sarafans and tunics, is prohibited.

10. Wearing short trousers (short-legged), shorts, tight and clinging trousers, support trousers, leggings, stretch trousers, barrel-shaped trousers, hanging trousers, trouser-socks, and torn or patched trousers, is prohibited.
11. For hygienic reasons, nails must be short and clean. Long nails are prohibited because they have a sharp edge and may cause injury to others and to equipment.
12. Since nail polish, nail stickers and artificial nails cause the accumulation of bacteria, increase the likelihood of the transmission of infection, and create problems when working with sterile equipment, having such nails is prohibited.
13. The unconventional use of jewelry on the face (nose or tooth jewel), hands and feet (ankle chain) that is contrary to university custom is prohibited; however, the use of jewelry and ornaments customary in administrative and university environments, such as a wedding band or ring, is without objection.
14. It is necessary to wear women's and men's socks that cover up to above the ankle. Wearing mesh socks is not permitted.
15. The use of shoes with high heels (above 5 centimeters) and noisy shoes, and also wearing boots over trousers, is prohibited.

Article 7 – Instances of Mandatory and Prohibited Dress and Grooming for Men

1. Unconventional hair styling and grooming, such as removing the eyebrows, highlighting, curling, braiding the hair at the back and top of the head, styling the hair in a razor-cut form or as the emblem of a particular sect, and hair being longer than usual such that it extends below the collar of the garment, etc., is prohibited.
2. The use or display of any jewelry such as chains, necklaces, wristbands, gold rings, etc. (with the exception of a wedding ring) in all student and clinical environments is prohibited.
3. The use of neckties and bow ties of any kind is prohibited.
4. The use of women's clothing, tight and short T-shirts, tight and clinging form-fitting garments with very short sleeves, armhole-style, sleeveless or open-collared garments, shorts, loungewear, trousers with a short or long crotch, tight or clinging trousers, and torn or patched trousers, is prohibited.

Article 8 – Dress in Dormitories and Sports Venues

1. The dress in the dormitory environment must be appropriate to the dormitory premises. Wearing loungewear and body-revealing clothing, especially for women, in the public space of the dormitory is prohibited in all circumstances.
2. Given the separation of sexes in sports environments, the specific dress of each sports discipline may be used in accordance with that environment and sport.

Article 9 – Authority Responsible for Dealing with Violations Under the Bylaw

Since disciplinary violations of students and residents fall within the jurisdiction of the Disciplinary Committee, and the disciplinary committees at universities are under the supervision of the Deputies for Cultural and Student Affairs, the examination of violations has been entrusted to this Deputy.

In the Implementation Guideline for the Professional Conduct and Dress Code of Students and Residents of Medical Sciences, the faculty member assumes the main duty of scoring the professional dress and conduct of the student/resident. In fact, the faculty member, as the person who can observe the conduct of the student/resident for the longest period of time, in addition to the course grade at the end of each semester, also gives the student/resident a score for professional dress and conduct, and ultimately, by aggregating the scores obtained from the various faculty members for students and residents, a “Professional Dress and Conduct Report Card” is issued.

A working group under the University Cultural Council, consisting of the Deputy for Cultural and Student Affairs (Head of the Working Group), the Deputy for Education, the representative in charge of the university’s Institution (Nahad), the representative of the university’s Protection Office, the Secretary of the University’s Primary Student Disciplinary Council, and 2 faculty members elected by the University Cultural Council, is announced. The secretariat of the working group (located in the Deputy for Cultural and Student Affairs of the university), after review and amendment or approval, announces its accepted final mean score to the Deputy for Education, and the “Professional Dress and Conduct Report Card” of the student/resident for that academic semester is issued.

It is self-evident that faculty members are obliged to complete the form for the evaluation of the professional conduct and dress of students and residents (Form No. 1) and also the Professional Dress and Conduct Report Card (Form No. 3), and to submit it to the Deputy for Education.

Note: The report form of non-adherence/violations of professional conduct and dress by students and residents must be referred by the Deputy for Education to the Student Disciplinary Council.

Article 10 – Method of Reminder for Unaware or Offending Students and Residents

Step One – Sending a message to the offending student/resident through the secretariat of the university’s Student Disciplinary Committee.

Step Two – A respectful, oral and explicit reminder to persons who do not observe the proprieties of dress and ethics and the regulations and proprieties of dress.

Step Three – In the event of non-compliance with the oral reminder, students and residents are referred to the Counseling and Mental Health Office of the Deputy for Cultural and Student Affairs of the university.

Step Four – In the event of non-compliance with the oral reminders and counseling recommendations, the student and resident are referred to the Student Disciplinary Council for the formation of a case file.

Article 11 – Descriptive Score of Professional Conduct and Dress of Students and Residents of Medical Sciences Universities

1. In order to establish and institutionalize professional conduct and ethics among students and residents of universities, a descriptive evaluation form for the professional conduct and dress of students and residents of medical sciences universities has been designed, which is to be completed by professors at the end of each course and placed at the disposal of the Deputy for Education as follows. (Form No. 1)
2. In accordance with this Guideline, university professors are obliged to issue for students and residents, separately, a descriptive score for conduct and dress (at the expected level, below the expected level, unacceptable), together with the educational scores, whether theoretical or practical.

Note 1: The Deputy for Education of the university must hold an explanatory session for faculty members and instructors on how to complete the descriptive evaluation form for the professional conduct and dress of students and residents.

Note 2: In courses in which more than one faculty member has teaching responsibility, the responsibility for completing the professional conduct and dress report card for the students and residents of that course shall rest, at the discretion of the department chair, with one of the faculty members, or preferably with the member who has the highest number of teaching hours.

Note 3: At the request of the student/resident, his/her professional conduct and dress report card will be communicated to him/her confidentially at the end of each course.

Note 4: In the event of an objection by the student/resident to the scores issued, the Deputy for Education of the faculty is obliged to obtain an explanation from the relevant faculty member, who is also obliged to provide the necessary explanations in writing within two weeks.

Note 5: If it is necessary to examine the student's violation in the Disciplinary Council, that Council shall proceed to invite the faculty member to attend the Council's session or to provide written explanations.

Note 6: The numerical value of the grade "at the expected level" is 1, "below the expected level" is 0.5, and "unacceptable" is zero; these numbers will be used to determine the mean descriptive score of the student/resident in the professional dress and conduct report card.

Note 7: The professional dress and conduct score of the student and resident at the end of each academic semester or educational course, based on the level of adherence to this Bylaw in accordance with its Implementation Guideline, shall be collected by the Deputy for Education and the trend of its changes shall be monitored. Likewise, the forms issued by faculty members and instructors, together with the report card of each academic semester, like the educational report card, shall be kept in the educational records of the student/resident.

Note 8: If the mean descriptive score of the student/resident in his/her report card is below the expected level or unacceptable, he/she shall be referred, in the first instance, to the Counseling and Mental Health Office for students and residents, and, in the event of repetition, shall be referred to the university's Deputy for Cultural Affairs for a decision on the matter, and, if the Deputy for Cultural and Student Affairs so determines, shall be referred to the Student Disciplinary Council for the examination of violations.
